

Noemi Andreoli

Junior front-end developer

Manchester, UK

Experience

01/2017

Freelance front end developer project, Manchester, UK

Webpage for spanish artist Rels b in collaboration with Augusto Solorzano, using Wordpress, JS, HTML5 and Sass.

02/2016 - 07/2016

Translation internship, Manchester, UK

English to Italian translation internship at Intertranslations Ltd. With translations for the European Parliament as main role.

10/2015 - 2/2016

The Pasta Factory. Manchester, UK

Responsible for fresh pasta production for italian restaurant-pastificio The Pasta Factory.

Education

2016 - Present

Programming studies

Self-taught programming studies in HTML5, CSS3, JS. Several Udemy and Lynda.com online courses, O'Reilly books and Youtube videos as main sources. Also lots of practice, dedication and patience.

2014 - 2015

Master's Degree in Translation and Interpreting Studies

English to Italian translation degree at the University of Manchester, Manchester, UK.

2010 - 2013

Bachelor's Degree in Modern Languages and Foreign Literature

Modern languages (English and Japanese) and foreign literature degree at the University of Bologna, Bologna, Italy.

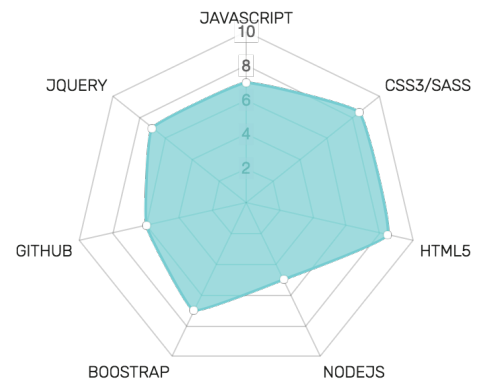

Profile

I'm a junior front end developer and translator based in Manchester. I'm a dedicated keen learner, well organized and I always plan ahead to make sure I manage my time well. I'm also a friendly and reliable individual who enjoys working both in a team and on my own.

Interests

Swimming, reading, baking and gardening, as much as a small flat allows. I also enjoy watching films and tv series as well as playing chess and videogames.

Some skills

Details

<https://annolu.github.io/noemi/>

✉ andreoli.noemi@gmail.com

☎ 07583078242

📍 Corporation Street, M44DX
Manchester, UK